

Notes on Growing Phragmipediums

Thank you for your recent purchase of our Phragmipedium orchids. These plants were shipped in their pots, and should be watered immediately upon arrival. Phrags like to stay moist at all times and prefer good quality water. Dilute fertilizer suitable for orchids should be applied at least once per month. Moderate light levels, such as bright indirect light, are appropriate, and phrags should be kept out of full sun during the hottest part of the day (morning sun is fine) to avoid burning of the leaves. For optimal growth and plant health, we recommend that the plants be repotted into new orchid mix after they have finished blooming.
